Optimise Interviewing Success

Ensure that your interviewing process is as effective as possible at finding the right people for your organisation. Our consultants can provide additional support in the following areas:

Competency design

If you wish to identify the competencies required for specific job roles, or want to create a company-wide competency framework, our consultants can help. a&dc specialise in Job Analysis for competency design. We can also create bespoke assessments based on these competencies to ensure maximum relevance to your target role and organisation.

Interviewer training

a&dc offer a professional competency based interview training course, for those who interview frequently or have responsibility for ensuring high standards across a team of interviewers. Covering question design and best practice interviewing techniques, this course offers the chance to learn new skills through practical experience. Endorsed by the Institute of Leadership & Management.
